Copyright information for teachers

This research guide is designed for individual use by students studying The Australian Curriculum: History.

Please note, due to licensing arrangements, State Library's subscription databases and eBooks are for private research and study purposes only. They may not be used as teaching resources in classroom environments in schools or other educational institutions and students must not be required to access specific databases or eBooks as part of the curriculum.

Teachers can advise students on State Library's resources and encourage their use to help with their studies and research. Students are encouraged to access State Library's resources at school, but not during class time.

Teachers are most welcome to advise students what is available via State Library, and to encourage students to make use of eBooks and databases to help with their studies. It is permissible for a teacher to demonstrate the use of State Library's catalogue, and to point out how various online material can be accessed.

It is also permissible for students to access State Library's online resources at school – but this must not be during class time. An example of permitted use might be where students have a spare period when they work on assignments or homework, and they are accessing databases as private members of State Library. Information about joining State Library is available here.

Please also note that State Library has digitised a range of material such as diaries, and out-of-copyright publications held in our collections. There are no restrictions on the use of this material as part of a teaching program – and no requirement to be a member of the Library to use this material. This type of material can easily be found, searching State Library's One Search catalogue using the "SLQ digitised collections" option in the dropdown menu.

Featured Databases

The Oxford Companion to Australian History draws on the latest scholarship and covers people, institutions, and events that have shaped Australian society, politics and culture.

The screenshot shows the Oxford Reference website interface. At the top, the 'Oxford Reference' logo is on the left, and a search bar is on the right. Below the logo, there are navigation tabs for 'Subject' and 'Reference Type'. On the right side of the navigation bar, there are links for 'My Content (1)' and 'My Searches (0)'. Below the navigation bar, there is a 'Back to Results' link on the left and a set of utility icons (print, copy, share, etc.) on the right. The main content area features a book cover for 'The Oxford Companion to Australian History' on the left. To the right of the cover, the title 'The Oxford Companion to Australian History' is displayed with a green 'a' icon. Below the title, the editors are listed: 'Edited by: Graeme Davison, John Hirst, and Stuart Macintyre'. A descriptive paragraph follows, stating that the book draws on the latest scholarship and covers people, institutions, and events that have shaped Australian society, politics and culture. It lists various topics covered, such as politicians, colonisers, visionaries, newspaper barons, industrialists, explorers, writers, artists, and scientists. Below the description, there is a 'BIBLIOGRAPHIC INFORMATION' section with details for the publisher (Oxford University Press), print ISBN-13 (9780195515039), current online version (2003), eISBN (9780191735165), print publication date (2001), published online date (2003), and DOI (10.1093/acref/9780195515039.001.0001). On the far right, there is a biographical section for the editors: Graeme Davison, John Hirst, and Stuart Macintyre, listing their roles and notable works.

The Britannica Library has articles, images, videos, primary sources, eBooks and more on events that made and transformed the Australian nation with a selection of resources especially for teenagers.

The screenshot shows the Britannica Library Teens interface. At the top, there is a search bar and a menu icon. Below the header is a large landscape illustration of a colonial settlement. The article title is "free settlement in colonial Australia". A sidebar on the left contains a "TABLE OF CONTENTS" with sections for "Introduction", "History", and "Daily Life". The main content area shows the "Introduction" section, which begins with the text: "Most European settlers in Australia in the early colonial years were convicts sent by the British government. There were also some free".
