Transforming The Corner

Investing in children,
building Queensland communities

Maddie

“The Corner has been a cornerstone in our lives since my daughter was just 5 months old, providing a vibrant and welcoming space that quickly became our second home. Attending programs played a pivotal role in my daughter’s early childhood, laying a strong foundation for her learning and development.”

Nurturing generations

When children have a great start in life, the impacts are profound.

The love for learning nurtured in children's early years helps them build strong foundations that they can draw on now and into their future.

"The first 5 years for children are full of opportunities. We know that those early positive experiences then create the brain architecture that sets children up for life."

Professor Karen Thorpe,
Queensland Brain Institute

The Corner

State Library's The Corner brings world-class resources together to help children reach their highest potential.

As a dedicated creative hub for families, fostering opportunities for talking, reading, singing and playing, it provides fundamental building blocks for children's learning and wellbeing.

The Corner supports families in shaping young minds; recognising parents, grandparents and caregivers as children's first and most important teachers.

Now, after nearly 20 years and welcoming over 80,000 visitors each year, The Corner is expanding. Located in the heart of the South Bank precinct, this premier facility at State Library will offer new spaces, thoughtfully designed for children and families to play, learn and grow together.

Why investing in The Corner matters

Decades of research underscore the importance of play in our earliest years; when children play with the important adults in their life it is especially powerful for their learning and development.

The Corner is the anchor for First 5 Forever, a trusted statewide play-based program that empowers parents and caregivers to create enriching experiences and environments for healthy brain development.

While brain growth happens throughout life, the first 5 years offer an incredible window for development. First 5 Forever helps families maximise this critical period, building meaningful connections between parents, caregivers, and children.

Through strong partnerships with the early childhood sector, universities, and the statewide network of public libraries and Indigenous Knowledge Centres, The Corner's impact ripples far beyond its walls, enriching communities across Queensland.

First 5 Forever is free in The Corner and in public libraries across Queensland. Families are connected with play-based experiences, resources and services that support children to thrive.

The impact

Investing in The Corner is investing in the future of children, giving more young Queenslanders the best possible start in life.

The newly expanded The Corner will provide safe and fun child-focused spaces to:

- shape stronger communities as families connect and share knowledge
- offer play-based learning programs and resources that can be shared through the Queensland public library network
- leave a legacy for Queensland, as State Library is positioned as a world leader in child-led experiences.

"The Corner was a treasured haven for me as a new mum. The staff's genuine care for early literacy engagement was evident and their support encouraged meaningful, face-to-face interactions with my babies through reading, singing and play. The happy times my children experienced have left lasting impressions — they'll forever think of libraries as beautiful, joyful places."
