Copyright information for teachers

This research guide is designed for individual use by students studying The Australian Curriculum.

Please note, due to licensing arrangements, State Library's subscription databases and eBooks are for private research and study purposes only. They may not be used as teaching resources in classroom environments in schools or other educational institutions and students must not be required to access specific databases or eBooks as part of the curriculum.

Teachers can advise students on State Library's resources and encourage their use to help with their studies and research. Students are encouraged to access State Library's resources at school, but not during class time.

Teachers are most welcome to advise students what is available via State Library, and to encourage students to make use of eBooks and databases to help with their studies. It is permissible for a teacher to demonstrate the use of State Library's catalogue, and to point out how various online material can be accessed.

It is also permissible for students to access State Library's online resources at school – but this must not be during class time. An example of permitted use might be where students have a spare period when they work on assignments or homework, and they are accessing databases as private members of the State Library. Information about joining the State Library is included in this guide.

Please also note that State Library has digitised a range of material such as diaries, and out of copyright publications held in our collections. There are no restrictions on the use of this material as part of a teaching program – and no requirement to be a member of the library to use this material. They are easily findable searching our catalogue using the "SLQ digitised collections" option in the dropdown menu.

For easy reference

Oxford Reference spans 25 different subject areas, bringing together 2 million digitised entries across Oxford University Press's dictionaries, companions, and encyclopedias.

The screenshot shows the Oxford Reference website interface. At the top, there is a search bar and navigation menus for 'Subject' and 'Reference Type'. A user is signed in as 'State Library of Queensland'. The main content area features a 'Timeline: Palestine and Israel' with a wood-grain background image. The timeline details include: 'Years: c. 90,000 years ago - 2009', 'Subject: Encyclopedias, Geographical reference', 'Publisher: HistoryWorld', 'Online Publication Date: 2012', and 'Current online version: 2012'. A 'History World' logo is visible in the bottom right of the timeline section. Below the timeline, there is a 'Jump to a year:' field with radio buttons for 'BCE' and 'CE', and a 'Go' button.

The Britannica Library has articles, images and more, with a selection of resources especially for teenagers.
