Copyright information for teachers

This research guide is designed for individual use by students.

Please note, due to licensing arrangements, State Library's subscription databases and ebooks are for private research and study purposes only. They may not be used as teaching resources in classroom environments in schools or other educational institutions and students must not be required to access specific databases or ebooks as part of the curriculum.

Teachers can advise students on State Library's resources and encourage their use to help with their studies and research. Students are encouraged to access State Library's resources at school, but not during class time.

Teachers are most welcome to advise students what is available via State Library, and to encourage students to make use of ebooks and databases to help with their studies. It is permissible for a teacher to demonstrate the use of State Library's catalogue, and to point out how various online material can be accessed.

It is also permissible for students to access State Library's online resources at school – but this must not be during class time. An example of permitted use might be where students have a spare period when they work on assignments or homework, and they are accessing databases as private members of the State Library. Information about joining the State Library is here.

Please also note that State Library has digitised a range of material such as diaries, and out of copyright publications held in our collections. There are no restrictions on the use of this material as part of a teaching program – and no requirement to be a member of the library to use this material. They are easily findable searching our catalogue using the "SLQ digitised collections" option in the dropdown menu.

Featured databases

For easy reference

Oxford Reference spans 25 different subject areas, bringing together 2 million digitised entries across Oxford University Press's dictionaries, companions, and encyclopedias.

The screenshot shows the Oxford Reference website interface. At the top is the 'Oxford Reference' logo and a search bar. Below the logo is a navigation bar with 'Subject' and 'Reference Type' dropdowns, and 'My Content (1)' and 'My Searches (0)' links. The main content area displays the entry for 'A Dictionary of British History (1 ed.)' by John Cannon. On the left is a book cover for the 'Oxford Dictionary of British History' by John Cannon. The entry text includes a quote from The Independent: 'The book is packed with interest to the final page'. It also mentions that the dictionary contains more than 3,800 authoritative entries written by over 100 specialist contributors, describing British history from 55 BC to the present. A sidebar on the right provides a biography of John Cannon, noting his role as Professor of Modern History at Newcastle upon Tyne and his authorship of several titles including The Oxford Companion to British History and The Kings & Queens of Britain.

The Britannica Library has articles, images and more, with a selection of resources especially for teenagers.

For engaging reading

National Geographic Virtual Library is a powerful tool for research offering access to over 100+ years of magazines and hundreds of books, maps, videos, and images.

For academic and scholarly information

ProQuest Central brings together 47 databases across 175 subject areas, providing easy intuitive access to an incredibly broad and comprehensive range of content.

JSTOR provides access to more than 12 million scholarly journal articles and ebooks and is especially good for primary sources.

Contemporary Newspapers

NewsBank provides a comprehensive collection of reliable news sources featuring over 8,000 titles from 200 countries covering up to 30 years of news.

PressReader provides colour, full-page issues of popular magazines and newspapers from around the world, featuring over 2,000 titles from 70 countries in 37 languages.

Historical Newspapers

The Irish Newspaper Archives is the largest online database of Irish newspapers in the world, with news dating from 1763 to the present.

The Times Digital Archive is an online, full-text facsimile of more than 200 years of The Times, one of the most highly regarded resources for eighteenth to twenty-first-century news coverage
