Copyright information for teachers

This research guide is designed for individual use by students studying The Australian Curriculum: History.

Please note, due to licensing arrangements, State Library's subscription databases and eBooks are for private research and study purposes only. They may not be used as teaching resources in classroom environments in schools or other educational institutions and students must not be required to access specific databases or eBooks as part of the curriculum.

Teachers can advise students on State Library's resources and encourage their use to help with their studies and research. Students are encouraged to access State Library's resources at school, but not during class time.

Teachers are most welcome to advise students what is available via State Library, and to encourage students to make use of eBooks and databases to help with their studies. It is permissible for a teacher to demonstrate the use of State Library's catalogue, and to point out how various online material can be accessed.

It is also permissible for students to access State Library's online resources at school – but this must not be during class time. An example of permitted use might be where students have a spare period when they work on assignments or homework, and they are accessing databases as private members of the State Library. Information about joining the State Library is here.

Please also note that State Library has digitised a range of material such as diaries, and out of copyright publications held in our collections. There are no restrictions on the use of this material as part of a teaching program – and no requirement to be a member of the library to use this material. This type of material can easily be found, searching State Library's One Search catalogue using the "SLQ digitised collections" option in the dropdown menu.

For more information about the use of copyright materials visit Understanding copyright or contact State Library at copyright@slq.qld.gov.au

The National Geographic Virtual Library has articles, books, maps, videos and more on topics studied in the Globalising World.

The screenshot shows a webpage from the National Geographic Virtual Library. At the top, there's a banner with the text 'GALE PRESENTS' and the National Geographic logo. Below this is a search bar and navigation links. The main title of the article is 'A World of Parts' by Peter Gwin. The article is part of a collection titled 'GEOGRAPHICA: THE PEOPLE, PLACES, AND CREATURES OF OUR UNIVERSE'. The article itself is titled 'GLOBAL ECONOMY: A World of Parts' and discusses the complexity of building a Mini car. It features several callouts pointing to different parts of a yellow Mini car, each with information about its origin and the company that made it:

- Grille: Made in: Germany, Company headquarters: Germany
- Hood: Made in: Netherlands, Company headquarters: Austria
- Windshield: Made in: Belgium, Company headquarters: France
- Headliner: Made in: U.K., Company headquarters: Spain
- Outside mirrors: Made in: Germany, Company headquarters: Canada
- Seats: Made in: U.S., Company headquarters: U.S.
- Gasoline engine: Made in: Brazil, Company headquarters: Brazil

The article text mentions that Thomas Schmid, the purchasing director for the Mini brand of the BMW Group, spends his days searching the world for companies to supply the nearly 2,500 parts—from engines to windshield wipers—that finally come together to build a Mini.

A Concise Oxford Dictionary of Politics and International Relations (4 ed.)

Garrett W Brown , Iain McLean , and Alistair McMillan

Previous Edition (3 ed.)

Over 1,700 entries

Written by a leading team of political scientists, this dictionary embraces the multi-disciplinary spectrum of political theory including political thinkers, history, institutions, theories, and schools of thought, as well as notable current affairs that have shaped attitudes to politics.

Fully updated for its fourth edition, it has had its coverage of international relations heavily revised and expanded, reflected in its title change, and it includes a wealth of new material in areas such as international institutions, peace building, human security, security studies, global governance, and open economy politics.

Garrett W Brown, author
Iain McLean, author
Alistair McMillan, author

Garrett Brown is Professor of Political Theory and Global Health Policy in the School of Politics and International Studies at the University of Leeds.

Iain McLean is an Official Fellow in Politics at Nuffield College, Oxford, and Professor of Politics at the University of Oxford.

Alistair McMillan is Senior Lecturer in Politics at the University of Sheffield.
