

Making Meaning Symposium

Unlock the stories in your data

State Library of Queensland's Making Meaning symposium is the perfect professional development opportunity for you.

Imagine elevating your storytelling abilities by harnessing cutting-edge technologies to craft compelling narratives for your visitors.

Industry leaders will share their successful use of data in day-to-day practice.

At a glance

3
KEYNOTE SPEAKERS

National and international speakers that will challenge and invigorate participants.

8
LIGHTNING TALKS

Short, passionate talks that inspire and share ideas about collections as data.

NETWORKING OPPORTUNITIES

Uniting like-minded attendees to share ideas and new possibilities.

Benefits of attending

Discover cutting-edge technologies:

Explore locally and internationally used technologies that unlock hidden trends and captivating stories within collections.

Enhance user experience: Gain valuable insights on how you can actively contribute to improving the user experience of your collections – helping users find new information and meaning within.

Inspiring keynotes and lightning talks: Be inspired by local, national, and international keynote speakers and lightning talks, delving into what 'collections as data' truly means.

Networking opportunities: Meet like-minded people, fostering connections for your next project and expanding your professional network.

Get your ticket

<https://www.slq.qld.gov.au/making-meaning-2024>

AARNET is a supporting sponsor of this event.